

STRIPLE

DESIGN FABRIZIO CRISÀ

VERSATILE, FUNCTIONAL AND TECHNOLOGICALLY ADVANCED

Stripe is one of the new vertical extractor hoods proposed by Elica in 2014. Like the other vertical extractor hoods, Stripe has a strong visual impact: limited lines and a simple design are what characterise the kitchen. Precisely because it is vertical, Stripe offers total freedom of movement: it can be aligned perfectly with the cabinets, offering all the space needed to cook in complete comfort. Stripe also has two extraction sources: the air is extracted both by the lower part of the extractor hood and by the front slot of the panel. Available in white glass, black glass and stainless steel.
